Seems to Have Come to an End.

Three plays which disappointed the expectations of their managers came to an end last Saturday night. One of them. "The Road to Happiness," in which Willam Hodge attempted to renew the vogue of the rural play, will continue on its travels, since its popularity in cities outside New York has already lasted for two seasons. But the metropolis, for two seasons. But the metropolis, ever less cordial to the plays of this kind than the rest of the country, could not take Mr. Hodge and his play to its heart. It is true that in the past "The lold Homestead" knew some prosperous seasons here, notably at the Academy of Music. But in general these plays, such as "Way Down East," which is now at the ripe age of 22, make their success out of this city.

"The Whip" has a great financial success and there was the inevitable freshness of interest in the plays that came from the Drury Lane in London. But it will probably be several years companied by a young architect. She smokes a cigarette while her husband driuks a Scotch and soda and they dis-cuss his mistress. Here Mr. Anspacher is evidently drawing a picture of the Incidents of the First Act.

Other things are established in this settled yer terday when E. H. Sothern told The Sun reporter that the scenery, costumes and all the effects used by Sothern and Marlowe in the Shake-It is soon revealed that the spearian productions were to be sold next spring.

"There is one thing," said Mr. Sothern, "that I would like to correct. There seems to be some misapprehension in the public mind as to my future introduce her architect husband to a appearance in Shakesmare I shall be seen. sion in the public mind as to my future appearances in Shakespeare. I shall never again act a Shakespearian role. The intention of Mrs. Sothern and myself to return the classic drama for a farewell tour has been entirely given over.

"Mrs. Sothern and I announced two years ago that we expected to retire from the stage ofter 1915-1916. The announcement at the time was given little credence, but we did not deem it necessary to try to convince those who said that it was 'merely actors' publicity methods.'
